David Price OBE

David Price, OBE, is an expert in organisational learning for a complex future. He is a Senior Associate at the Innovation Unit, and co-founder of We Do Things Differently, a culture change practice. His recent book, ‘OPEN: How We’ll Work, Live and Learn In The Future’ has been an Amazon best-seller since its publication. In 2009 he was awarded the O.B.E. By Her Majesty the Queen.

He writes, talks, trains and advises, around the world, on some of the biggest challenges facing business, education and society: solving the problems of employee, student and civic disengagement; maximising our potential to be creative, innovative and fulfilled citizens, and understanding the global shift towards open organisations, and systems of learning.

Sir Ken Robinson has written that ‘from every perspective OPEN will open your mind to some of the real implications of digital technologies for how we live and learn in the 21st century’.

Recent clients include: the Manpower Group, Boehringer Ingelheim, Thames Water, British Gas, Telstra, Intel, AMP, RAF, Bank of Ireland, SAE, EduTech, Ashfield Healthcare, RM Results, Entrepreneurs Organization, Blackboard, Government departments in the UK, South Australia, New South Wales, Victoria and a host of universities, colleges and schools around the world.
