minds enterprising

AUGUST 10 & 11 MELBOURNE AUSTRALIA
Welcome

Principal, Melbourne Girls Grammar
Catherine Misson

The Centre for Educational Enterprise (CEE) is proud to present the biennial conference in Melbourne on 10 and 11 August 2017.

This one and half day’s conference has been designed to promote discussion on enterprise education, a vision that places students at the heart of schooling initiatives that promote the non-cognitive attributes of learners to ensure they are ready to thrive in the 4th Revolution World.

CEE has developed an educational narrative that champions the development of enterprising mindset in youth, to ensure that children today are being equipped for a digital age in which their experiences of work and wellbeing will be vastly different to that of their parents. Through the establishment of the Centre for Educational Enterprise (CEE, 2015), CEE has taken this agenda international, launching in 2016 the Enterprising Schools Network to connect educators who are acting and leading for the same greater purpose.

Internationally recognised speakers will join us for a dynamic experience, expertly convened by Jan Owen AM. Those in attendance will question our current educational paradigm, and reimagine the use of time, new roles in schools, and new ways of young people can take greater control of and personalise their learning.

This conference will be of interest to a wide range of educators, academics, entrepreneurs, economists, and other social agencies.

Convenor
Jan Owen AM Hon DLitt
CEO, Foundation for Young Australians

Jan is a highly regarded social entrepreneur, innovator, influencer and author who has spent the past 25 years growing Australia’s youth, social enterprise and innovation sectors.

In 2012 she was named Australia’s inaugural Australian Financial Review and Westpac Woman of Influence; in 2014 she received the Doctor of Letters (honoris causa) from the University of Sydney; and was awarded membership to the Order of Australia in 2000. She is the author of Every Childhood Lasts a Lifetime (1996) and The Future Chasers (2014).

Jan is the CEO of the Foundation for Young Australians and YLab, the global youth futures lab. Her lifelong mission is to unleash the potential of young people to lead positive change in the world.

Dominic Sharpe
Country Director of the Liger Learning Centre, Cambodia

Dom has come to education via, entrepreneurship (founded and ran two businesses in London), the NGO world (co-founder of the Cambodian Children’s Charity) and most recently was Deputy Director at the Liger Learning Centre 2010-2012, has been Country Director for the past four and a half years and is a true advocate of disruptive schooling in order to lessen the skills gap between what is being taught and what business and the real world’ needs. There should not be school and the ‘real world’ but rather they should be one and the same. So it is not simply a matter of what is taught but also, how it is taught. Contextualised, experiential learning, an entrepreneurial spirit – the ability to see, create, develop opportunities, will enable students not just to survive, but to thrive. With disruption comes discomfort, more for educators than students, as the goal of developing ‘life long learners’ must not only apply to students but also to those facilitating their learning. Dom believes that more people from sectors outside of institutional education should be involved with education – not to work against, but to work with educationalists. We have to stop finding excuses why change wont work in education and start understanding the reasons why it must.

Jeffrey Holte
Director of Education, Liger Learning Centre, Cambodia

Jeff is an innovative, creative educator with nearly 40 years experience as a teacher, principal, technology director, school director and designer of pioneering learning models. Originally from the US, Jeff has spent the past decade on his own experiential journey, living in Qatar, Beijing, Democratic Republic of Congo and Cambodia. He currently serves as the Director of Education for Liger Learning Centre in Phnom Penh. Jeff is passionate about education and the promise it provides to the learner, the community and the world. His goal is to ignite curiosity, inspire a love of learning, and motivate children to fulfil their potential through project-oriented, experiential and opportunity-based experiences.
Keynote Speaker
Jacqueline Savage

Jacqueline Savage is the Founder of MedCorp Technologies, a medical device company developing wearable technologies for the healthcare industry. As a young Australian product design engineer she is passionate and dedicated to improving healthcare through innovation. Jacqueline believes strongly in importance of the design process in the development of medical devices, that a product is not just finding a solution to a problem, but also improving the end user's experience. After obtaining a Bachelor of Engineering (Product Design), specialising in Biomedical Engineering, Jacqueline has used her diverse range of skills to develop products from concept through to manufacture and global distribution. Voted Top 100 Global Engineering Innovations of 2014 (Create the Future, NASA Tech Briefs) and a finalist in last year's 2015 Med Tech's Got Talent competition, Jacqueline has received numerous industry acknowledgements and awards for her innovative approach to enabling remote healthcare.

Dr Leonie Walsh

Leonie Walsh is an experienced leader and adviser in technological innovation with a background that spans more than 30 years of experience both locally and internationally across a diverse range of industries and applications. Leonie draws from this experience to support government, academia and businesses on strategic science and technology issues including innovation efficiency, technology commercialisation and the future skilled workforce through a range of related boards, advisory and advocacy activities. Leonie is also a strong advocate for attracting more women into science, engineering and technology and was recently named as the inaugural Ambassador for Women's in STEM Australia. More recently Leonie completed a 3-year term as Victoria's inaugural Lead Scientist. In this capacity Leonie was a contributing member on the Future Industries Ministerial Advisory Council, provided contributions to the Education State activities and STEM plan via the Tech Schools STEM Future Industries Advisory Panel and the STEM advisory committee, represented Victoria on the Forum of Australian Chief Scientists and continues to participate on a range of government and industry advisory committees and funding assessment panels spanning innovation, education, new energy and advanced manufacturing. For many years Leonie has also provided support to the health sector through a range of National and international board roles including President and Chairman of the Fight Cancer Foundation providing accommodation support for regional families needing medical care in the major cities and funding of education support in three states for children undergoing cancer treatment. Leonie Walsh has received a BSc and an MSc from Swinburne University, an MBA (Exec) from the Australian Graduate School of Management and is a Fellow of the Academy of Technological Sciences and Engineering. In 2014 Leonie received an Honorary Doctorate (HonDUniv) from Swinburne University of Technology for contributions and leadership in scientific enterprises, innovation and the community.

Aaron Tait

Aaron was born in New Zealand, joined the Australian military as a seventeen year old, went to war in the Persian Gulf as an eighteen year old, ran a nightclub in Spain as a twenty year old, married a girl from San Francisco that he met in that nightclub, built an orphanage in Kenya, ran a secondary school for street-kids in Tanzania, and completed three masters degrees with one from Cambridge University. He is the co-founder of Education Changemakers, one of Australia’s fastest growing education companies, and co-founder and the Chief Impact Officer of YGAP an organisation that has supported impact entrepreneurs across Africa, Asia and Australia and changed the lives of hundreds of thousands of people living in poverty.
